

What Is Insurance?

Insurance is protection from a specified loss in return for a fee. It allows someone to transfer the risk of loss to another party, such as an insurance company.

- An insurance policy is a written contract that transfers risk from a person to a company.
 A premium is the fee paid for
- insurance protection.Coverage is the amount of risk or liability protected by an insurance policy.
 - A deductible is the portion of a loss that the insured must pay. The deductible amount is specified in the insurance policy.

Types of Personal Insurance

Health Insurance Transfers the risk of liability for medical expenses related to an injury or illness from a person to an insurance company.

Property InsuranceTransfers the risk of loss from the owner or occupant of a dwelling to an insurance company.

The loss of a dwelling or its contents can come from fire.

theft, storms, and other causes.

Auto

someone else.

Transfers the risk of loss of or damage

Protection Plan

to a specific product, such as a cell phone or computer, from the owner to an insurance company.

These plans go beyond standard

Provides a payment to designated beneficiaries, the person(s) designated to receive benefits,

Life Insurance

product warranties.

when the insured person dies, in exchange for premium payments.

Insurance

Policy

Tips for Buying Insurance

Check your credit score. It can affect your Plan and budget for insurance.

eligibility and cost for insurance.

Research different types of coverage.

Lower your premium through loss-control programs and other discounts.

Review your policy. Know your coverage limits and deductibles.

Sources: https://www.stlouisfed.org/education/glossary https://content.naic.org/consumer_glossary#I

Learn more about this topic and download a copy of this infographic by visiting atlantafed.org/infographics